METRO RAIL

Red Line service is already over capacity at rush hour, and ridership continues to increase.

» RED LINE BENEFITS

The Red Line is a regional rail service that operates from downtown Austin, through Central and Northwest Austin, and the city of Leander. The Red Line will connect to the larger transit system, including the Green, Blue, Orange, and Gold Lines, as well as MetroRapid and MetroBus routes.

Connects people to key activity centers.

Key activity centers along the Red Line include the Convention Center, Plaza Saltillo, and neighborhoods like Crestview, along with connections to Park & Rides at Howard, Lakeline and Leander. New stations would include Broadmoor/Domain and McKalla at the Austin FC MLS soccer stadium.

Accommodates future growth.

Population is expected to continue to grow along the Red Line Corridor. Employment opportunities continue to increase within and adjacent to the Red Line Corridor, such as the Northline Transit Oriented Development in Leander.

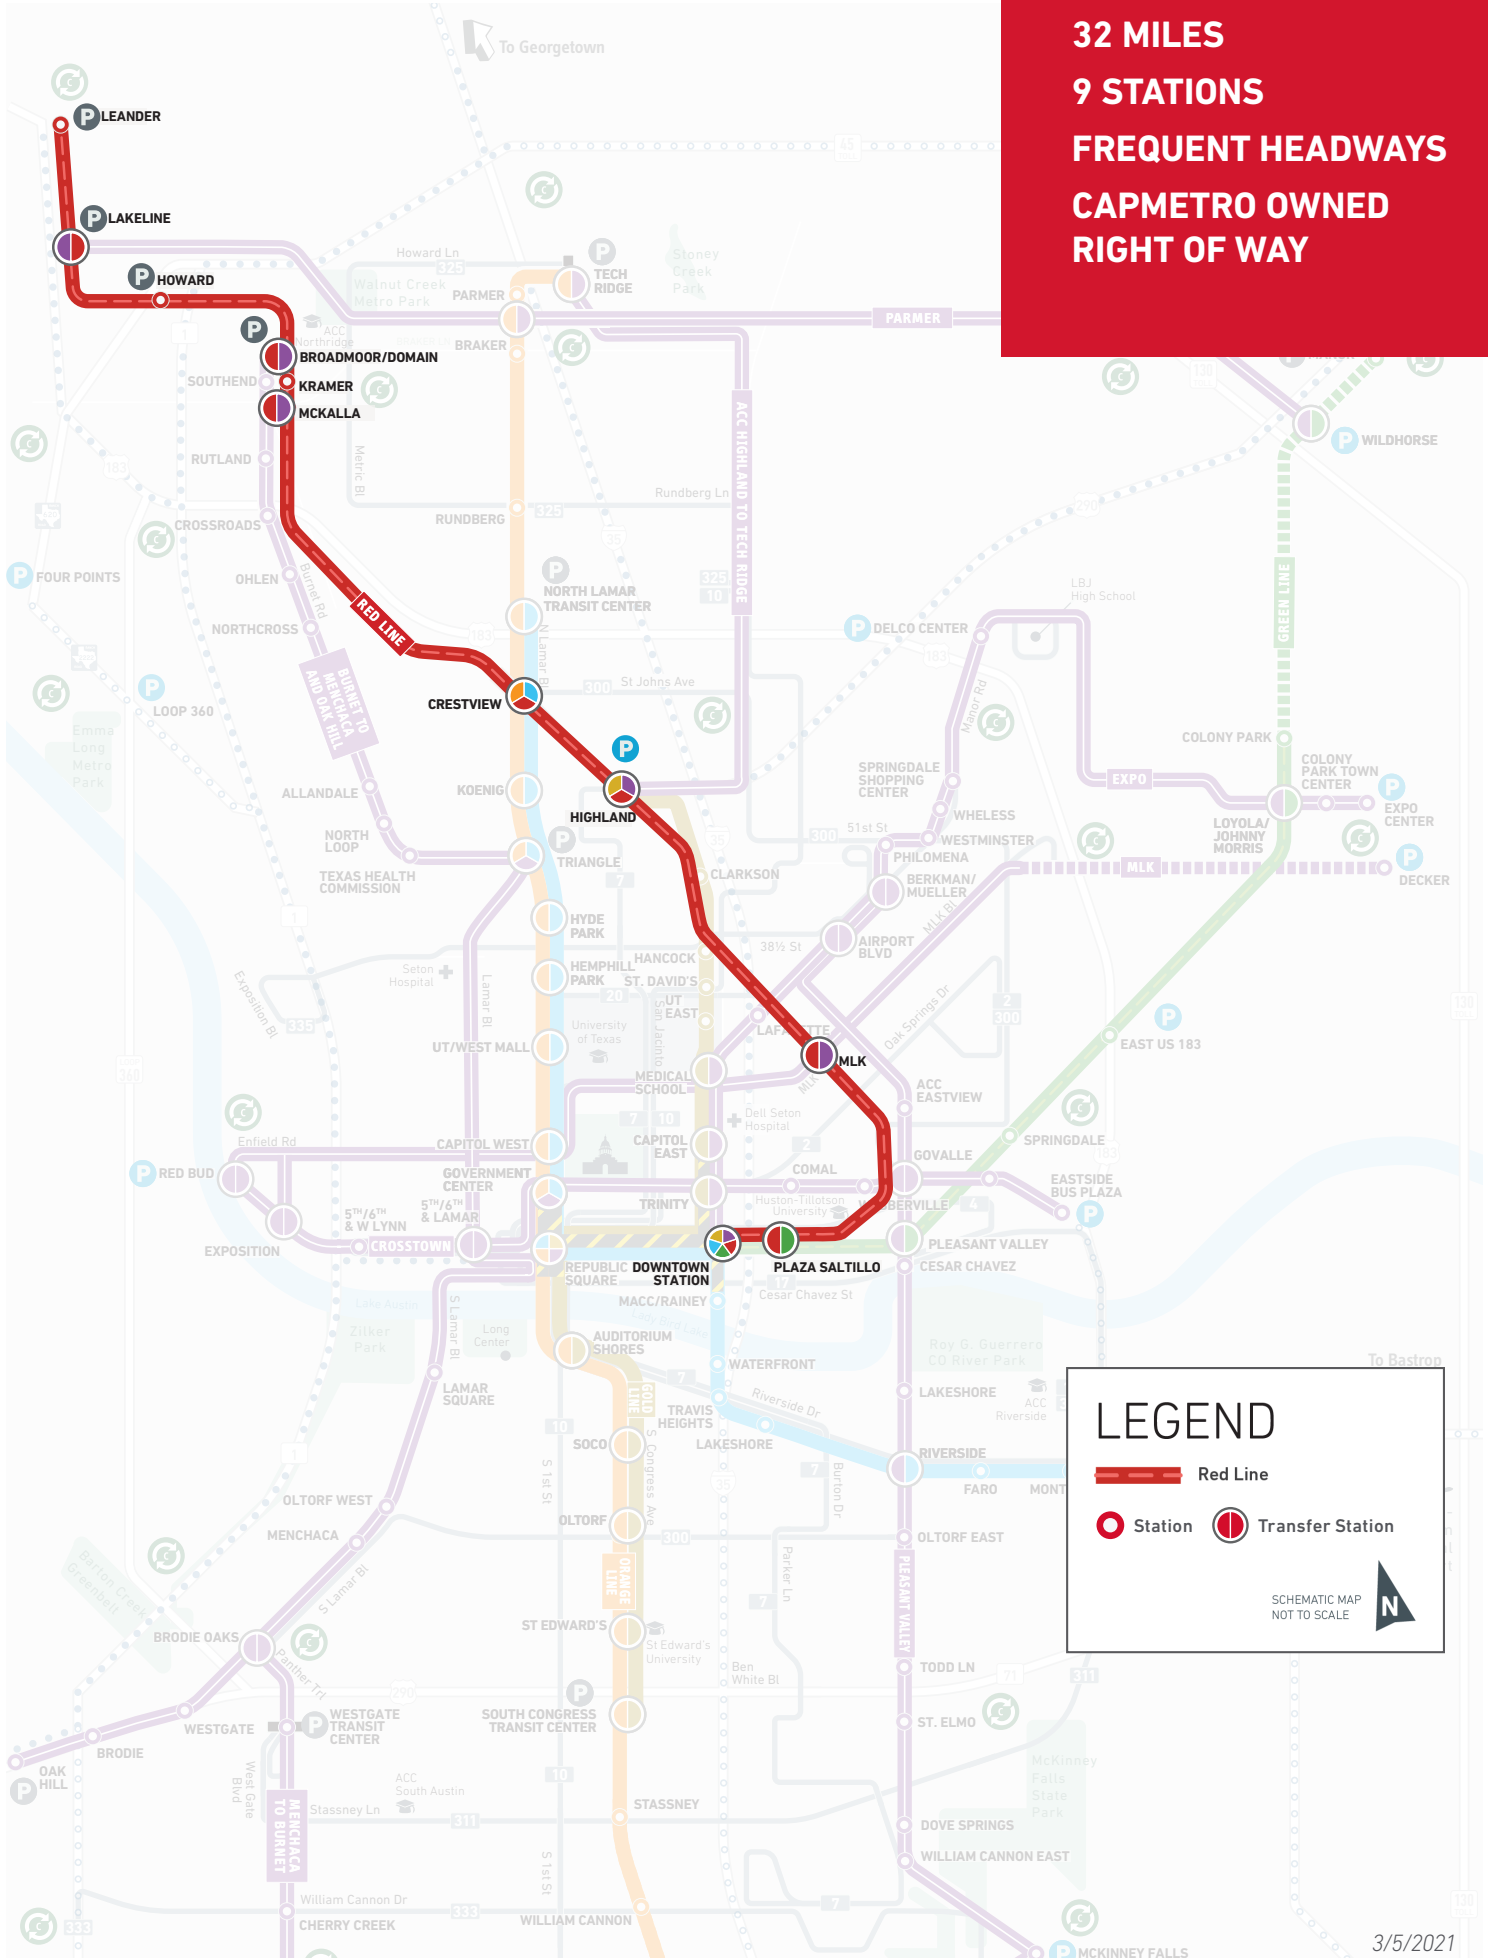

» RED LINE ENHANCEMENTS

The improvements will include building stations and double tracking to increase frequency and capacity.

Regional rail would operate more frequently meaning more space for riders.
